

Faculty

Teaching & Learning Lunches Fall 2016

A lunch-hour well spent. Engage in thought provoking discussions with colleagues this fall. Each lunch will highlight a different topic from the Sciences or Social Sciences and Humanities. Learn more online: ctl.yale.edu/TLlunches

Hosted by
Dr. Jonathan Reuning-Scherer

Title:
“To Flip, Or Not To Flip: Running simultaneous flipped and traditional classrooms in Introduction to Statistics”

Hosted by
Dr. Kathryn Lofton

Title:
“Teaching in the Time of Course Evaluations and the Consumer Culture of Education”

Hosted by
Dr. Jing Tsu

Title:
“Area Studies vs. Method: Teaching China”

Hosted by
Dr. Michael Faison

Title:
“Immersive, Interactive Exercises for Teaching Science (Not Just Astronomy!) in a Digital Dome Theater”

Hosted by
Dr. Sophia Rosenfeld

Title:
“Asking Questions in Lectures and Discussion-Based Seminars”

Hosted by
Dr. Jessi Cisewski

Title:
“Eliciting Student Participation in Traditionally Non-Interactive Lectures”

Hosted by
Dr. Michael Koelle

Title:
“How to Run an Effective Large-Enrollment Lecture Course”